AN EXQUISITELY
DESIGNED COLLECTION
OF 15 CONTEMPORARY
COASTAL DWELLINGS

SLEEK, ELEGANT & REFINED

Welcome to Longshore, an exquisitely designed collection of 15 contemporary coastal dwellings set in the charming, seaside village of Aberporth, West Wales.

Echoes of surrounding nature and woodland emerge from the wooden-clad and stone facades of these spacious and welcoming family homes while breathtaking views across the bay can be enjoyed from the style and comfort of design excellence.

Longshore sets a new standard in coastal living, making it one of the most desirable residential developments in Wales.

THE SCHEME

Situated on Ffordd Newydd, Longshore offers a selection of two, three and four bedroom family homes with breathtaking views across the Irish Sea. Set on the edge of a fully preserved, established woodland, private gardens extend to the rear and secure, off-road parking is allocated.

It's the blend of sustainability, superior design, luxury detailing and location that sets it apart from the crowd.

THE LOCATION

Aberporth is an idyllic village which sits on the stunning Ceredigion coastal path.

It boasts two Blue Flag sheltered, sandy beaches - one of which is dog-friendly all year round - and is surrounded by spectacular, panoramic views and an abundance of wildlife. It's no surprise that Aberporth is one of the most sought-after locations in Wales. For a small, seaside village, it serves up an impressive array of pubs, cafés, bars and restaurants including the highly recommended The Boy Ashore, where you can enjoy fresh, delicious locally caught lobster and crab, washed down with a fabulous craft beer.

And just a few miles down the coast is the old market town of Cardigan. Its historic castle - which won Channel 4's Great British Buildings Restoration of the Year in 2017 – is a vibrant music venue. Meanwhile, the castle restaurant, Cegin 1176, is just one of the many independent eateries in town. Along with Yr Hen Printworks, the Copperpot and the famous Pizzatipi, helping Cardigan become something of a foodie destination in West Wales.

Aberporth has a thriving local community, which welcomes a seasonal tourist population to enjoy its renowned beaches and incredible, unspoilt coastline. With boat trips and a host of water sports, including canoeing and paddle boarding, it has much to offer. For wildlife, head for the accessible coastal path which winds along the headland to spot meadow pipits, choughs and bottlenose dolphins.

THE DETAIL

Sometimes it's the smallest things that make a house a home, and at Longshore it's certainly all in the details.

Many of the UK and Europe's leading specialists and manufacturers are providing the separate elements that together will create contemporary living at its finest.

Outdoor space is complemented by natural stone elevations with well-considered, landscaped gardens while an outdoor, cold-water shower awaits your return from a trip to the beach.

Indoors, think underfloor heating, award-winning kitchens manufactured in Wales by Sigma 3 with integrated Neff appliances, well-designed bathrooms with Ideal Standard Atelier feature sanitaryware and other interior design touches that create timeless spaces.

Each home will be powered by renewable energy through air source heat pumps and come with optional vehicle charging points, achieving the highest building control standards.

Every detail has been considered. These are homes for those who truly appreciate architecture and design and a seriously impressive location.
